What do you do next?

A short guide to noticing pressure sooner,
and watching your progress in your own numbers.

NERVOUS SYSTEM ALIGNMENT FOR HIGH-PERFORMING LEADERS

PRESSURE LANDS IN THE BODY FIRST

Leadership does not happen from the neck up.

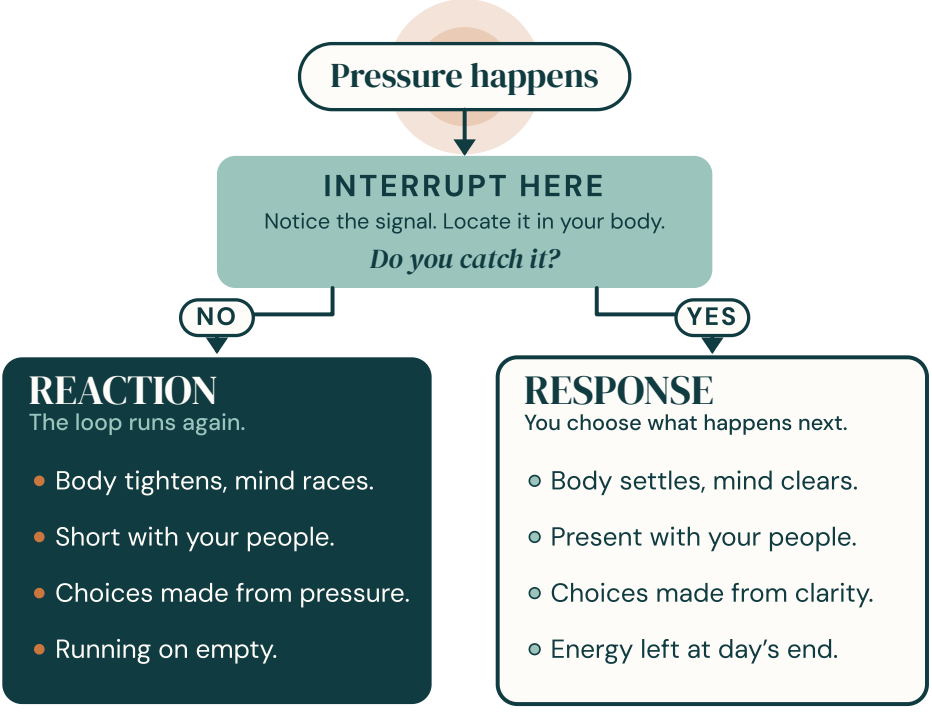

Strategy matters. Emotional intelligence matters. But pressure lands in the body before it becomes the thought, the tone, the decision or the reaction everyone else sees.

When your body tightens and your mind speeds up, you can lose access to capabilities you already have. That is why more information rarely changes what happens in the hard moment. A trained response does.

1. Notice the signal.
2. Locate what is happening.
3. Choose your next response.

WHEN PRESSURE HITS

Pressure happens. Then what?

The moment you notice the signal is the moment you can choose. That is what we train.

Left alone, running depleted starts to feel normal. It draws down your energy, narrows your thinking and wears on your judgment.

THE METHOD

Regulation is a skill. Recovery is a skill. Choice under pressure is a skill.

And skills can be practiced, strengthened and measured.

PRESSURE SHOWS UP IN FOUR PLACES

Health

Sleep that doesn't restore you, and a body that has been running on alarm for too long.

Wealth

Money and business decisions made from pressure instead of clarity.

Relationships

Less patience for the people you love than you give everyone else.

Career

Leading well on the outside while running on empty on the inside.

WHAT MAKES SOMA-Q DIFFERENT

The tools you practice also create the data.

So we can see what is working, what is not, and adjust.

1	Baseline	Soma-Q Assessment at the start
2	Weekly	Soma-Q Weekly Check-In, under five minutes
3	Trended	SQ-M and SQ-C, tracked separately
4	Report	Soma-Q Metrics Report, in plain language
5	Adjust	Practice follows the data

SQ-LPMS: ONE SYSTEM, TWO SEPARATE MEASURES

THE CAUSE

SQ-M

Soma-Q Method Metrics.
Is the method landing in the body and nervous system?

THE EFFECT

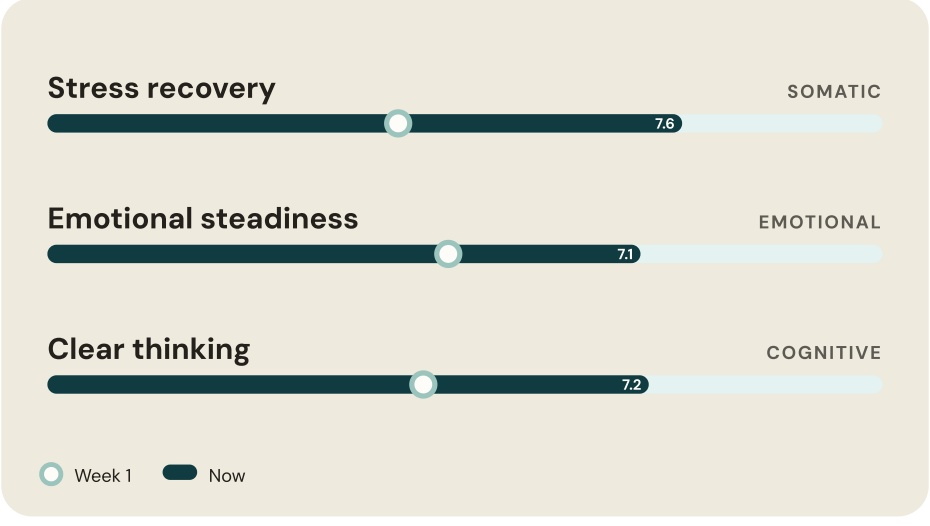

SQ-C

Soma-Q Leadership Competencies.
Is the change showing up in how you lead?

Kept apart on purpose, so a strong quarter of results cannot hide growing strain, and a slow start is not mistaken for a lack of capability.

WHAT A REPORT LOOKS LIKE

Example: a senior leader, 16 weeks in.

Every measure is above where it started, and the body-based measures moved first.

The largest gain is in staying calm under pressure, up four points since week 1.

One measure is still behind: focus late in the day. That is where the next phase of practice goes.

WHAT YOU KEEP

Your Metrics Report, your session notes and your practice reference guides.

Example of the report format only; not client data.

AND A HARD WEEK, SHOWN PLAINLY

Example: a founder, week 11.

A demanding stretch pulled emotional steadiness down from last week, and the check-in shows it plainly.

Stress recovery held steady through it. The hard days still came, but they no longer took the whole week.

The long view still points up: every measure is above week 1, and bouncing back is the one moving fastest.

Example of the report format only; not client data.
